

FAMILY NEWSLETTER

NOVEMBER 2021

At Thanksgiving we reflect on the blessings we received throughout the year. Gifts of family, friends, happiness and fortitude help us successfully navigate life's treasures and challenges. We all possess individual gifts and strengths that can help us lead a happy, more fulfilling, life. Identifying our strengths and helping our children discover theirs is a pure act of gratitude and love. And when we appreciate ourselves and others for who we truly are, we reap abundant rewards.

At LPP we strive to make the classroom a hopeful place, where we recognize and nurture your child's emerging strengths that give promise to the future. It is our job and a blessing for which we are thankful.

All of us at LPP wish you and your family a Happy Thanksgiving!

CURRICULUM CORNER

Fall- Autumn's vibrant colors reinforce positive aspects of change. We study nature's color palette and learn about busy squirrels and other animals preparing for the winter months ahead.

Thankfulness - During the holidays, we discuss special people, places and things that bring us joy. We strive to instill an attitude of gratitude among our students.

Thanksgiving Traditions - In November, the children learn about the first Thanksgiving as well as our modern day celebrations through stories, songs, crafts and class discussions. The children explore how we use food to celebrate thankfulness and honor our family heritage and traditions.

UPCOMING EVENTS

This month, we are thankful for: fall nature walks, leaf collecting, and outside parachute play. Below are some November reminders...
